

Weddings InStyle

How to Look Your Best From Head to Toe aislestyle

say "I do" to a green wedding

Throwing an eco-friendly event doesn't have to mean sacrificing style. From bakers to brewers, plenty of environmentally conscious vendors keep elegance in mind, so you and your man can commit to each other and the planet eat your heart out Consider serving an organic confection, like this chocolate cake with vanilla buttercream by Miette Pâtisserie & Confiserie in San Francisco ($40/8"; miettecakes.com). Fancy Girl Catering in N.Y.C. (fancygirlcatering.com) offers other "green" options. You could also ask your local baker to use only organic ingredients.

save a tree Send the right message with wedding stationery that's fashioned from recycled paper and soy ink. Letterpress invitation on handmade, reclaimed cotton, Oblation Papers & Press, $745/100; oblationpapers.com for stores.

drink to this When stocking the bar, opt for spirits made from organically grown grains, such as Square One Vodka ($32/750 ml; klwines.com). For a large selection of organic beer and wine, try diamondorganics.com.

pick pure petals
Order organic blooms, like the roses above, from

72 Ideas for Flowers, Cake Favors + More