DRINK YOUR VEGGIES

With this vodka, it's hip to be square.

WHILE WE'RE ON THE SUBJECT OF USING LESS fossil fuel, let's stop drinking vodka that tastes like it—that corn and potato stuff in your bar belongs in a gas tank. Inside its paper-free labeled bottle, Square One Cucumber Flavored Organic Vodka ($35) is nothing but 100 percent organic American rye, cucumbers, and Snake River water. The subtle cucumber taste and smell are always evident, and it never goes bad, even though the bottle holds not a single preservative. Much like the scents of flowers, plants, and other natural elements, the cucumber's essence is extracted and concentrated to create a subtle tone that's far from overpowering, whether sipped alone or in a White Vespa (Square One Organic Cucumber, Vermouth, and Grappa). —EM
